KENNEDY AIDES SEE NO BUDGET BULGE

State's Finances To Be Outlined

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) Ohio's Republican - controlled legislature returns to Columbus tonight to listen to the financial facts of life - Democratic version.

Lawmakers will get an elaborate rundown on the state of the state treasury, prospects for future revenues and the Democratic view of how the state budget for the next two years should be balanced.

In effect, says Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, two budgets will be presented—a hold-the-line budget and an alternative spending schedule which will include what DiSalle considers to be progressive steps in government operation.

In contrast to his 1959 budget which some Republican legislators criticized as too general and fragmentary in explanation, DiSalle has assured newsmen the budget he will present tonight will be the most detailed in history.

DiSalle's budget presentation possibly will be the earliest in history—a full two months earlier than the average date of budget messages from governors in recent years. This could be one of the benefits of the new four-year terms for state officials. DiSalle has been in office two years and has been guiding his departmental directors for months to get their budget requests to his office early.

The growing educational and mental health programs likely will furnish most of the financial headaches the lawmakers experience while they try to come up with their own final draft of the budget which will finance state operations through June 30, 1963.

Aside from DiSalle's financial message, most of the week's legislative activity apparently will come in the introduction of scores of new bills. No deadline has yet been set on bill introduction.

Several legislative committees, however, are scheduled to begin hearings on pressing problems. One of them will be on a series of bills which would extend the maximum period of unemployment compensation benefits from 26 to 39 weeks because of currently heavy unemployment in Ohio. Hearings are scheduled Tuesday and Wednesday night before the House Industry and Labor Committee.

The Democratic-controlled legislature refused in special session six weeks ago to go along with DiSalle's proposal for a temporary extension of the benefits period pending further study by the new GOP - dominated General Assembly.

Riddle Enters Klumpp Dispute

Blood Stains Linked To Scene of Slaying

CINCINNATI (AP) — New evidence has shifted the death scene a dozen miles from the controversial Edythe Klumpp murder case, and laboratory reports add new complications.

A woman's eyeglasses and a piece of necklace, linked to Mrs. Louise Bergen, 32, have set the place she died as a dead-end road in Anderson Township.

But a blood-stained pair of child's shorts also was found with the eyeglasses, and police reported Sunday lab tests showed the blood of type O.

Police records indicated Mrs. Klumpp and Mrs. Bergen both had type A blood.

The evidence had been unrecognized in the files of C. Watson Hoyer, Hamilton County prosecutor, until it was linked to the case last week.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, who commuted Mrs. Klumpp's death sentence to life in prison, rousing a controversy, contended the new evidence supported her revised account of Mrs. Bergen's death.

This account, given to DiSalle while Mrs. Klumpp was under sodium amytal, a so-called truth serum, implicated Mrs. Bergen's estranged husband, William, with whom Mrs. Klumpp was living.

Prosecutor Hoyer said Sunday he would not reopen the case. He said an investigator had talked anew with Bergen, who now lives in Washington, D.C., and reported to Hoyer he was convinced Bergen was truthful.

William Bayes, a Cincinnati builder, said Saturday he found the evidence near dark on the day Mrs. Bergen died.

Bayes said he also saw a car drive away from the site with a man apparently at the wheel, but he could not see if there was anyone else in the car or what kind of auto it was.

In Columbus, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said at his Monday press conference that he would seek action if the prosecutor did not.

"We are going to wait and see what the prosecution does," the governor told newsmen.

DiSalle did not indicate what his own move might be. He expressed belief that Mrs. Klumpp's attorney could seek a writ of habeas corpus in federal court in order to introduce any new evidence.

Commenting on the new evidence, DiSalle said:

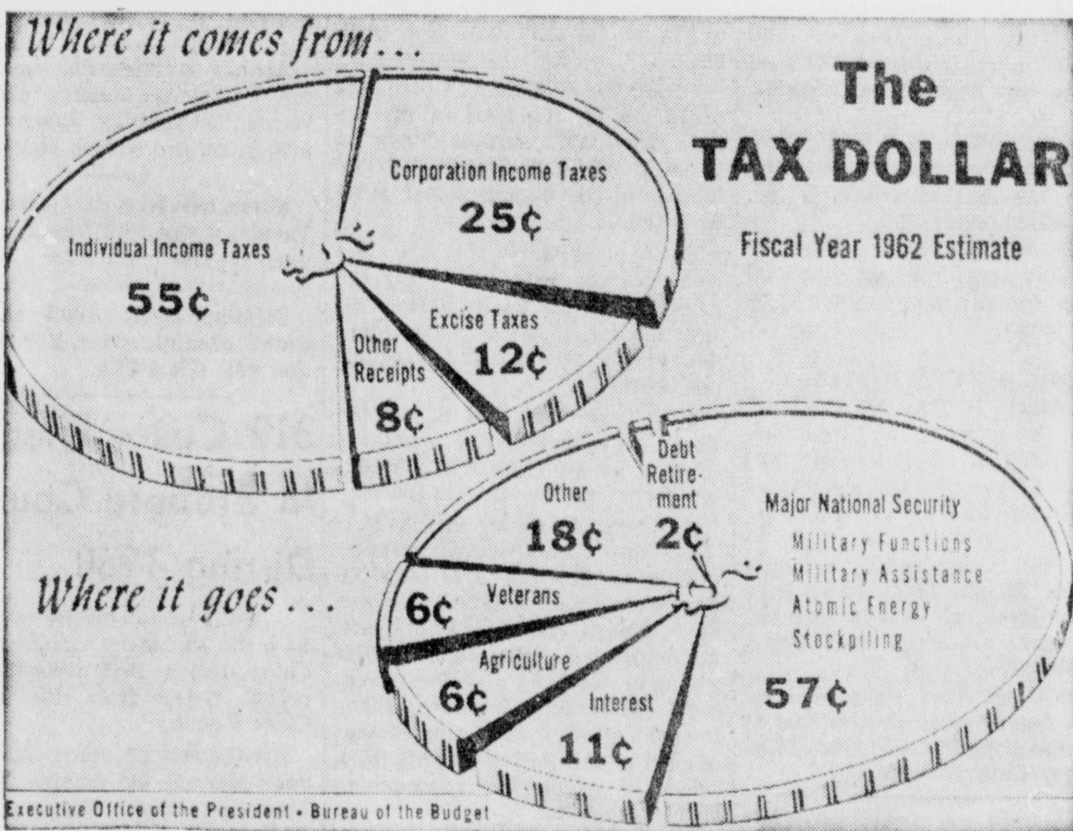

"This is one of the reasons why we are going to introduce a bill in the legislature to permit a court to receive new evidence in case where capital punishment is involved. Now there is no way to introduce new evidence."

The governor explained that higher courts do not review new evidence in considering appeals in capital punishment cases. He said his bill would permit such consideration.

Mayor Gordon Names Robbins As Solicitor

Kenneth M. Robbins, 709 N. Pickaway St., today was appointed city solicitor for Cincinnati by Mayor Ben H. Gordon.

Robbins replaces Robert Huffer who had to resign to take the post as Pickaway County Prosecutor.

The local attorney will be serving his second stint as solicitor. He was the city's chief legal officer for a period of about 3½ years previously.

Robbins first took the office in early 1954 as assistant to the ailing George Gerhardt. He ran for the office unopposed in November 1955 and served a two-year term.

In 1957 he was defeated by Huffer in a contest for the solicitor seat.

IN CONNECTION with his appointment Robbins announced that he will be a candidate for the unexpired term as solicitor ending December 31, 1961. He will run in the primary election and in the November election if nominated.

The unexpired term will begin January 1961.

Robbins came to Circleville in January 1941. He has practiced law here since that time. His law office is at 214½ S. Court St.

Billy Graham Due For Kennedy Talks

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy takes time out today from consultations on appointees and speech-writing to lunch with Baptist evangelist Billy Graham.

Kennedy, who is scheduled to leave Palm Beach Tuesday afternoon to fly to Washington and New York for a round of activity in advance of his Friday inauguration, planned more work today on the address he will deliver after taking the oath of office.

Today he announced the appointment of a career government official, John M. Ledy, as assistant secretary of the Treasury for international affairs.

Ledy, 46, has held State Department positions since 1941 and for the last two years has been assistant to Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, who — as secretary of the Treasury — will continue to be his chief.

Congo Rebels Attack Clinic; U.S. Missionaries Captured

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Baluba warriors attacked a hospital at Luena and severely wounded a Belgian doctor, the United Nations reported today.

The U.N. command said Congolese also opened fire on Moroccan soldiers of the United Nations stationed in the same Katanga town. The Moroccans returned fire but no casualties were reported. Both attacks took place Sunday.

White refugees fleeing from race violence waged by the Lumumbists in Kivu Province have been pouring into a refugee set up by the United Nations at Goma.

The U.N. command today was trying to obtain the release of six American missionaries and their families who were arrested while trying to get out of Kivu.

White refugees said the missionaries, their wives and 17 children — 29 persons in all — were seized by Congolese troops while trying to cross the Ruzizi River into the Belgian trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi Saturday.

The Americans reportedly were stopped at the frontier bridge leading to the Ruanda town of Shangeu, put in Congolese army trucks, and driven to Bukavu, the provincial capital controlled by followers of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

(The missionaries apparently are members of the Berean Mission, an interdenominational group with headquarters in St. Louis. Mrs. C. Reuben Lindquist, wife of the Berean president, said in St. Louis the group has 13 adults and 16 children, in the Congo or Ruanda-Urundi.)

(In Wheaton, Ill., an official of the Conservative Baptist Foreign Missions Board said a member of his group, Dr. R. H. Bothwell, had arranged for the Berean missionaries to leave Kivu. The only families known to have been in the party, he said, were the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Hurlburt of Wheaton, Ill., and the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Handyside of Webster, N.Y. Others known to be in Kivu, he said, are Dr. Bothwell; the Rev. and Mrs. James Kruetner, who have no permanent U.S. address; the Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Kile of Grenada, Minn.; the Rev. and Mrs. William Battistilli of Warren, Mich.; and Ruth Uhlinger of Mentone, Calif.)

Congolese troops refused to recognize the group's passes, other refugees said.

This Is Week For Democrat Celebrations

WASHINGTON (AP) — If ever there was a week for Democrats to celebrate, this is it. On Friday, one of their own, John F. Kennedy, will be inaugurated president, ending eight years of Republican federal rule.

And the Democrats mean to celebrate, starting tonight with a reception for one of their venerable leaders, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, 79.

Th Republicans, however, won't be entirely left out in the cold. The soon-to-be "outs" cut into a week of partying for the new "ins" with a "Transition Ball" tonight in honor of the outgoing Eisenhower administration.

What started out as a modest affair has gotten unexpected response from Republicans.

They hope to muster 15,000 to dance until midnight to a 13-piece orchestra.

Throughout the week, Washington will be on a party kick with scores of dances, receptions, dinners and private celebrations.

Kennedy himself is coming back from Palm Beach Tuesday and will put in an appearance at a party his sister, Jean Kennedy Smith, is giving for the cast of the inaugural gala.

The gala is a star-studded evening of entertainment being produced by Frank Sinatra and Kennedy's brother-in-law, actor Peter Lawford. Top talent from Broadway and Hollywood, taking part in the event, will be guests of the Smiths, who have expanded the facilities of their small Georgetown home by setting up a heated tent in their garden.

Ike Boosts Arms Fund to $42.9 Billion

$1.4 Billion Increase Said Needed for New Weapons, Cost Climb

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower proposed today a record peacetime military budget to equip American armed forces for any form of action from limited emergencies to a general war.

In his final budget message to Congress, he recommended a $42.9 billion outlay for the year beginning next July 1—$1.4 billion above the estimate for the current year.

The largest military request was the largest since World War II, except for the year beginning July 1, 1952. In that costliest year of the Korean War $43.7 billion was spent.

Eisenhower proposed no change in total military manpower. President-elect John F. Kennedy and his secretary of defense, Robert S. McNamara, can and will make whatever changes they desire in the budget request.

Kennedy, in last fall's campaign, hinted at some changes: Acceleration of the missile program, expansion and modernization of conventional forces and more defenses against enemy missile submarines.

The increase in the fiscal 1962 military spending program reflects several factors: A step-up in the readiness in manpower and deployment of arms; delivery of new, complex weapons and whole weapons systems; the steady increase in prices for material and labor.

In addition to the budget for the next fiscal year, Eisenhower said a supplemental appropriation for the current fiscal year will be needed to cover civilian pay increases, readiness measures already taken and other items.

This supplemental request totals $288,549,000 of which $196,649,000 is civilian pay, $73,800,000 for readiness measures and the balance for other smaller items.

"The recommendations for 1962 continue a strong posture of readiness and add to the capability of our military forces," Eisenhower told Congress. He added: "To take full advantage of the results of scientific and technological developments, rapid and sometimes drastic changes must continually be made in military forces and programs."

"Just a few years ago the United States was programming twice as much money for manned bomber systems as for strategic missile systems. The budget for the coming fiscal year, by contrast, programs more than four

Radar Tower Falls in Sea; 28 Men Lost

NEW YORK (AP)—Battered by a howling winter storm, an Air Force radar tower collapsed and disappeared with 28 men aboard in heavy seas 80 miles southeast of New York City Sunday night.

Rescue ships and aircraft raced to the scene, but found no survivors from the six-story-high structure that was part of the Air Force's early warning system.

A mattress, a life ring, an oil slick and debris were the only clues to the tragedy.

The first hint that the 14 Air Force men and 14 civilian workers were in trouble aboard the structure—called a Texas Tower—came at 7:15 p.m. when a Navy ship picked up a distress signal.

The vessel, the "Talk-17," a Navy ship that supplied the tower, was only 12 miles away when it received the "May Day" or SOS.

For 10 suspenseful minutes, the ship—fighting high winds and 35-foot waves—maintained radar and radio contact with the doomed tower. Suddenly, the tower's radar image disappeared.

There were two life boats at the tower and searchers hope survivors were able to escape.

The aircraft carrier Wasp, accompanied by two destroyers, was about 80 miles from the scene. The big flier took charge of rescue attempts as Coast Guard cutters and other ships joined the search.

$80.9 Billion Is Asked by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's forecast of budget surpluses this year and next are disputed by President-elect John F. Kennedy's advisers.

Kennedy's economic task force has predicted that, because of the business recession, the government is likely to dip into red ink in this fiscal year which ends June 30.

Eisenhower's budget message sent to Congress today estimates a surplus of $79 million for fiscal 1961, followed by a $1.5 billion surplus in fiscal 1962.

Eisenhower acknowledged the shakiness of the predicted 1961 surplus. It will be wiped out, he said, unless postal rates are increased "not later than April 1, 1961." Congress is not expected to act on postal rates soon, if at all this year.

As for fiscal 1962, the President said his forecasts "reflect expected gains in the national economy," providing improved tax revenues from rising incomes and corporate earnings.

Douglas Dillon, the present undersecretary of state who has been picked as Kennedy's secretary of the Treasury, gave a less optimistic view late Wednesday to the Senate Finance Committee.

Dillon, a Republican, said everything he has been told indicates there will be a deficit in fiscal 1962.

A year ago, when the fiscal 1961 budget message was issued, it called for a $4.2 billion surplus. That has almost entirely vanished because of sluggish business, particularly the lump in corporation profits.

In his budget message today, Eisenhower called for $80.9 billion in federal spending. He said this would produce a surplus of $1.5 billion.

To finance the projected surplus for the 1962 fiscal year that begins July 1, Eisenhower would increase federal fees and taxes on all those who mail letters, travel in airplanes or use the nation's.

Most of his action proposals were reiterations, but the 1,040-page budget book did include these ideas which he formally suggested for the first time:

The possible creation of a high-prestige White House job, perhaps carrying the title first secretary of the government. The post would be filled by a presidential appointee who would outrank Cabinet members and act as a sort of assistant president both at home and abroad.

The establishment of a new Cabinet-level department of transportation plus an efficiency-promoting office of executive management within the White House organization.

Eisenhower commended these suggestions to President-elect Kennedy and the Congress without advancing specific legislation.

On the facts and figures side, Eisenhower forecast federal spending of $80,865,000,000 in fiscal 1962 and revenues of $82,333,000,000.

For the indicated surplus of $1,468,000,000 to become a reality 18 months hence, these developments would be necessary:

1. Congress would have to increase postal rate (details not spelled out), vote higher taxes on gasoline (4½ cents a gallon instead of 4 cents) and establish a new tax on jet fuel. Air fares should be adjusted promptly to cover any aviation gas tax increase, Eisenhower said.

2. The so-far mild recession would have to stop in its tracks and give way to a gradual recovery that would lift the economy to record levels by the end of the current calendar year.

3. Kennedy would have to restrain his enthusiasm for a variety of new and expanded programs which presumably stand ahead of the new frontier.

The incoming president won't submit a budget of his own this year. But he'll suggest piece meal changes in Eisenhower's budget.

For the current fiscal year, Eisenhower's budget is $79,024,000,000 for income and $82,333,000,000 for expenses, leaving a surplus of $3,309,000,000.

The total is $3.79 higher for every man, woman and child than the per capita cost of this year's $78.9 billion federal spending.

There will be about 3 million more Americans to share the load a year hence, but the budget total is $2 billion higher.

All of Ike's Cabinet Members Have Resigned

WASHINGTON (AP) — All of President Eisenhower's Cabinet has now resigned as of next Friday, the day his term ends. Over the weekend Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming completed the roster.

Some gifts were personal ones meant just for the Gettysburg country home awaiting the Eisenhower family. These include cattle, horses, a flagpole, a fancy 34,000 tractor-cultivator and even a putting green.

Fortunately, Mrs. Eisenhower doesn't have to worry about packing pots and pans at the White House, dishes or a lot of furniture.

What to bring to those personal living quarters now is the problem of young Jacqueline Kennedy.

She had a dat with the moving men at the Kennedy home in the Georgetown section of Washington the first thing Monday after the inaugural weekend.

There are gifts—things like a times as much for strategic missile systems as for strategic bombing systems. Similarly defense against ballistic missile attack took only a small part of the total capital investment in continental air defense as recently as fiscal year 1957, whereas in the coming fiscal year it will be a substantial percentage of the total.

"There has been a gradual shift from guns to missiles on surface ships, and from conventional to nuclear power for submarines. For surface ships, the relative utility of nuclear or conventional power is a question that requires case by case consideration in each year's shipbuilding program.

"In total, there has been an emphasis on versatile and modern multi-purpose military units equipped and prepared for all forms of military action — from limited emergencies to a general war."

Under the budget recommendations, total military manpower would remain unchanged at 2,492,900. Each service would hold the same manning table: Army 870,000; Navy 625,000; Marine Corps 175,000; Air Force 822,900.

Nor would the numerical strength in weapons and units change radically. The Army would continue at 14 divisions; the Navy's combat fleet at 381 ships; the Air Force would decrease from 88 to 84 combat wings, but with more new aircraft in the units.

Eisenhower asked funds for five more Polaris submarines, which would bring to 19 the number of the rocket-firing, nuclear powered submarines for which full funding was provided. In addition, he recommended money for buying equipment in advance for five additional polaris boats.

Funds were asked for 30 new ships of various types, including three more atomic-powered attack submarines.

Spending for research, development and testing of new or improved weapons systems would total $4.38 billion—about $240 million above the present year.

Airborne TV To Be Discussed At Meeting

Dr. Chalmers Hixson, Ohio State University, will give a detailed explanation of the airborne television programs. Dr. Hixson's talk will be followed by a question and answer period.

George D. McDowell, county school superintendent, stated today that all executive heads, principals and teachers are urged to attend the meeting as well as the public.

New Trial Asked In Shepherd Case

A motion for a new trial was filed today in Common Pleas Court in the case of the Bud Howard Shepherd charged with burglarizing the New Holland post office.

Shepherd was found guilty of breaking and entering the New Holland Post Office and grand larceny by a Pickaway County Common Pleas Jury Friday. The crime allegedly occurred Aug. 20, 1960.

Shepherd was charged with the theft of $400 and a .45 caliber revolver in addition to breaking and entering the post office.

James D. Hapner, Hillsboro attorney, filed the motion for a new trial today on the following grounds:

A — Irregularity in the proceedings of the jury; B — Misconduct of the jury; C — The verdict was not sustained by sufficient evidence and is contrary to law; D — Error of law occurring at the trial. No date has been set for hearing.

$80.9 Billion

senior foreman's revenues of $79,024,000,000 and spending of $78,945,000,000. The projected surplus of $79 million was a long way from the $4.2 billion of black ink which the chief executive predicted a year ago when economic prospects were brighter.

The Kennedy camp is just about convinced that a current-year deficit is inevitable regardless of federal moves between now and June 30. The big question bothering the incoming administration is whether fiscal 1962 may not also show a deficit—and whether some red ink perhaps would be desirable to stimulate the economy.

Under the Eisenhower plan, the prospects of achieving a precarious fiscal 1961 surplus hinge on a quick business turnaround and the voting of higher postal rates by April 1.

Eisenhower said his new and final budget was based on the same yardstick as his first—"using necessity, rather than mere desirability as the test for our expenditures."

Such are the trends of the times that he found it necessary to plan an additional $1.9 billion of spending for fiscal 1962.

Some of the major increases: Defense Department military outlays up $1.4 billion to $42.9 billion. This would help pay for five new Polaris missile submarines, an expanded Minuteman ICBM program, work on a system promising a 15-minute warning of any missile attack, and replacement of part of the military airlift fleet, much of which is "approaching obsolescence."

(Spending by the Atomic Energy Commission is estimated at $2.7 billion, about the same as in fiscal 1961. More money will be spent on production of nuclear weapons and less on purchases of uranium.)

Research and development programs of all kinds, but mostly military, up $770 million to $9.4 billion. Included is $1 billion for base research.

Foreign aid up $250 million to $3.6 billion. Including requests for 1962 and future years, the total comes to $4 billion. This involves $1.8 billion in military aid.

Space exploration up $195 million to $965 million.

Agricultural programs up $165 million, mostly for price supports, to $1.1 billion.

Health, education and welfare activities up $300 million to $4 billion.

The biggest spending cut in fiscal 1962, apart from the one that would result from higher postal rates, was foreseen in interest charges on the national debt. Because rates have dropped and the debt has fallen very slightly, interest costs are estimated at $8.6 billion—down $400 million.

Eisenhower said that by June 30, 1962, the debt should be down to $283.4 billion, compared with the present $290 billion. However, he said Congress once again will have to vote a temporary increase in the permanent $285 billion debt limit. A temporary boost to $293 billion expires June 30.

Another tax proposal was as predictable as the rising of the sun: Congress will have to head off the annual threat of an automatic July 1 cut in excise and corporation income taxes. Otherwise, revenues would drop by $2.6 billion, the President estimated.

manned satellite to the moon, and send space probes near Venus and Mars are in the cards during the next fiscal year, President Eisenhower said today.

The man-in-space venture and the moon shot may take place before the end of the present calendar year, the president indicated in his last budget message.

He also disclosed that about one-fourth of the funds being sought for the Civilian Space Agency in 1962 are earmarked for further development of the giant Saturn booster rocket—America's prime hope for overcoming Russia's superiority in lofting heavy space loads.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Creation of a "first secretary of the government," to serve in effect as a presidential deputy, was suggested to Congress today by President Eisenhower.

Recognizing President-elect John F. Kennedy's right to speak for himself, Eisenhower did not embody his proposal in specific legislative recommendations.

The proposed supersecretary would outrank all Cabinet members, advise with the president on national security policy, and represent him in meetings with high foreign officials.

The deal is not new to the president-elect. AS A Senate member, Kennedy visited some sessions of the subcommittee on national machinery policy, which aired the first-secretary plan last year. The subcommittee staff rejected the idea.

The staff report said the president "cannot be relieved of his burdens by supplying him with a 'deputy' to do what only he can do."

City Ends '60 In the Black

General Fund Has
$23,602 Balance

The City of Circleville, not rich, but solvent, wound up 1960 with a general fund balance of $23,602.74.

That compares with a 1959 year-end balance of around $27,000. So, for the year, the city spent about $3,000 more than it took in.

One reason for the deficit spending was the small amount of inheritance taxes collected during 1960 by the city government. Only $6,940 came into the treasury last year, as compared to $15,377 in 1959; $29,367 in 1958 and $4,801 in 1957.

Other year-end balances for the various funds of the city are:

Waterworks Operating, $62,200; Water Guarantee Trust, $5,650; Sewerage, $32,464; Police Pension fund, $8,828; Firemen's Pension fund, $3,664;

FOOD Operating Licenses, $51.21; Street Opening Trust, $700.80; Ted Lewis Park Trust, $159.49; William Renick Trust, $1,291; Street Construction, Maintenance and Repair fund, $13,104;

State Highway Improvement fund, $6,762; Waterworks Improvement and Extension fund, $6,753; Replacement and Improvement fund, $5,000; General Bond Retirement fund, $7,509;

Waterworks Mortgage Revenue Bond Retirement fund, $14,291; Special Assessment Bond Retirement fund, $10,314; Nicholas Drive Sanitary Sewer Improvement fund, $2,779; Pontius Lane Street Improvement fund, $679.

Unemployment Poses Problem For Ohio's GOP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Heavy drains on Ohio's unemployment compensation fund confront majority Republicans with a dilemma before the new legislative session really gets rolling.

The predicament stems from a GOP desire to avoid new taxes this session and a longing by Democrats to discredit such a potential campaign issue.

Federal officials and unionists assert that rapidly rising jobless benefit payments are lowering the level of the fund from which they are made at an alarming rate.

They claim that increased taxes on contributing employers will be necessary to maintain solvency of the fund if unemployment mounts, as they expect, and the legislature approves proposals for extra benefits.

Three bills already are pending to extend the jobless compensation limit from 26 to 39 weeks, one of them permanently. Sponsors are pressing for early passage after failure of last month's special lame-duck session to act.

An Ohio AFL-CIO Council spokesman said the state's tax rate for employers has been under the national average since 1942. He pointed to a national average of 1.9 and estimated the Ohio average for last year at 1.5.

"If they had been paying what they should have been paying," he said, "there would be no question about the solvency of the fund today."

The employers have received a series of rate reductions and in 1953 the minimum was lowered from .3 to .1 per cent. The average Ohio rate in 1953 was 1.03 per cent. In 1958, the average was .75 per cent but it jumped to 1.4 per cent in 1959.

And in 1959 they got a .5 per cent general increase through operation of a complicated "state factor" formula designed as a build-in fund safeguard. And a spokesman foresees another .5 per cent across-the-board boost next year as a virtual certainty.

Employers and the Ohio Chamber of Commerce consistently opposed past attempts to write higher rates into the law on grounds they are not needed.

Don Wiper of the Ohio Manufacturers Association says that "any such proposals this session would be carefully studied by us."

But Sen. Frank W. King, D-

Lucas, a unionist, insists the fund should be built up during periods of high employment to carry through slack times.

"It is part of the employers strategy," he explains, "to keep their rate low so that when this kind of unemployment situation does arise, they point to the fund and say the fund can't stand an extension."

Eli M. Arterberg of the U.S. Labor Department expressed a similar view on a recent trip here from Washington.

He warned that Ohio could expect high levels of unemployment in the coming years and consequent drains on the compensation fund.

"If those conditions last for any period of time, the fund could become insolvent," he told Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation officials.

Arterberg suggested a series of precautionary steps to prevent the fund from going broke. One was an advance in the taxable wage base from $3,000 a year to possibly $4,800 annually. Another would increase the maximum rate from 2.7 per cent to around 3.50 per cent.

Employers of three or more contribute to the fund a percentage of annual wages paid workers up to $3,000 each. Wages above that level are not taxed for the fund. The percentage ranges from .1 to 2.7 according to an employer "merit rating" formula. About 2.4 million Ohio workers are "covered."

The fund built by employer payments stood above $686 million at the start of 1954 but shrank to about $311 million at the end of 1960.

BUC officials said the explanation is simple. Benefit payments from the fund exceeded employer contributions almost every year. During the 1958 recession, collection totaled $66 million and benefit payments nearly $275 million. In 1959, contributions were about $106 million against a pay-out of more than $121 million.

However, Donald B. Leach, Ohio BUC administrator, does not fully agree with the federal official's view that the fund is in immediate danger of depletion. But he concedes that continued heavy unemployment claims over a long period could produce a situation requiring increased employer contributions.

Republicans Keep Cudgels Handy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans are talking softly to President-elect John F. Kennedy's appointees but they are storing a political stick behind the door for possible use against them later.

At least four nominees will get polite threatment from Republicans when they go before Senate committees in public hearings this week.

These include Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the Democratic presidential nominee, and Chester Bowles, who headed the 1960 Democratic national platform drafting committee.

In an appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday, Stevenson can expect Republican questioning about what part he may play in the formulation on foreign policy in his new job of ambassador to the United Nations.

Republicans were conditioned in two presidential campaigns to opposition to Stevenson's international policies. If they can win from him some statement that indicates he will have a major voice in future policy decisions, they will chalk him up as a target for future attacks.

Named for undersecretary of state, Bowles seems headed for some grilling about his views on Red China. Most of the Republicans are dead set against anything that might open the way for diplomatic relations with the Peiping government, even in the distant future.

Like Stevenson, Bowles can expect to become a GOP target in the new administration.

The Republicans are expected to vote almost solidly for Robert F. Kennedy, the president-elect's brother, as attorney general. Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., has announced he will oppose confirmation because he said Kennedy has no practical experience as a lawyer. But Allott may be somewhat lonesome in his opposition.

The Republicans have little information about J. Edward Day, named for postmaster general, who airs his views before the Senate Postoffice Committee today.

They are generally pleased with the appointment of Robert S. McNamara as secretary of defense and have no public objections to Luther H. Hodges as secretary of commerce.

Nearly all Republicans are being counted now as supporting Kennedy's nomination of Robert C. Weaver, Negro vice chairman of New York City's Housing and Redevelopment Board, as federal housing administrator.

Castro, Capital of Cuba?

To prove his point that newspapers should be read and current events discussed in colleges, an eastern professor undertook a survey of his student body. What he learned appalled him.

One per cent couldn't identify the President and vice president and 2 per cent didn't know where the national capital is. Other evidences of ignorance: Who was secretary of state was a mystery to 15 per cent, 83 per cent couldn't name the secretary of defense, and 95 per cent had never heard the name of the secretary of health, education and welfare.

The great majority couldn't name the capital of Canada.

Nehru is prime minister of Israel, said

27 per cent. Other mis-identifications included naming Castro as the capital of Cuba.

Of course college students need to read newspapers and hold class discussions on the trend of world events. But there is cause to wonder what people of that degree of unawareness are doing in college.

We Don't Need Society Here

Apart from reading Cleveland Amory's book on the decay of American society, I read the learned sociological study of Lee Mortimer on "Women Confidential", a subject on which no one knows too much. I envy these men who know the ins and outs of everybody's lives and the goings and comings of various celebrities. They must have a wonderful time staying up all night and sleeping all day.

Wickedness is not my special line, although I often deal with politicians. But I am always astonished at how many decent people there in the world who mind their own business.

Not this fellow, Lee Mortimer, is a very fine person and if I were in need, I can imagine no one who would come to my rescue sooner, but why does he wallow in sheer wickedness as he does in this book?

Well, there is no telling about human beings. The other day, I read somewhere that I was mean, which really I cannot be. It is true that I am a suspicious person but then, that is an occupational disease. Old reporters were trained to be suspicious. They always thought of the old man who gave little girls candy. They looked upon all politicians as such.

They saw a reformer and wondered what he got out of his reform. They dug in all the muck of their day. They toppled great reputations with small tattletale. They were the guardians of the people, the bribes in the forum. It was a glorious profession and the cynical feared lest their sentimentality be exposed.

Then came the day of giving everyone the benefit of the doubt. Therefore, little was dug up but as one editor said, "It will be a great story when we get it." One politely sits and waits for the truth to become available. And if the truth never becomes available, what then?

It is, of course, a question and I think Cleveland Amory answers it quite fully in his enormous tome "Who Killed Society?" which is so truly dead.

And yet, let me tell you of a wonderful experience I had on New Year's Eve. I went to the house of a great lady who belonged when it was something to belong. And there was gathered a fine company of quietly distinguished persons. And when the moment of midnight approached, the lights were put out, a window was opened; the guests were silent except for the playing of a piano in flow out; the new year flew in. The window was shut; the lights went on. We bade each other a happy New Year with whatever affection. And we were jolly but not noisy.

It was a novel ceremony which my hostess had known since she was a little girl many decades ago when her mother pursued it.

There is much peace and beauty in this world in many places that are not publicized. In fact, this is the real strength of our country which is strong despite all the trickeries of politicians and conniving persons who fight not for the whole of what we are but for some little part of us which they fill.

I was thinking of that the other day when I listened to a recording of Dimitri Tiomkin's music for John Wayne's picture, "The Alamo". I listened to a recording of Dimmy's music and realized how this country can sear an alien's soul, so that he becomes a part of us.

It is authentic American music; not this horrible beat thing called rock-n-roll, but music that makes you want to sing as we sung the tunes of Stephen Foster or of Gus Edwards.

A European journalist writes to me, asking why President-elect Kennedy appoints so many school teachers to big jobs. I had not noticed that but if it is so, it might be because what the man knows he got from teachers who mhe respects.

The Europeans speak of an intellectual as though he were really something special. The woods are full of intellectuals and even intelligent folks here. I know some simple gals, friends of mine, who rattle away in three or four languages everywhere, majored in this or that and wash their own dishes. This is a country without real class distinctions, although a few that Amory writes about or Mortimer ridicules would prefer to be what never can be.

Am I mean? Say not so. It is too close to Christmas.

FORTHRIGHT, at least, is one Colonel J. Carreras, who specializes in making horror films. The Colonel told a reporter from the London Standard, "I am a millionaire, and not a dollar million-aire. Strictly sterling. My pictures make money—all of them. Horror pays off. The public wants horror, sex, brutality, violence. I give it to them."

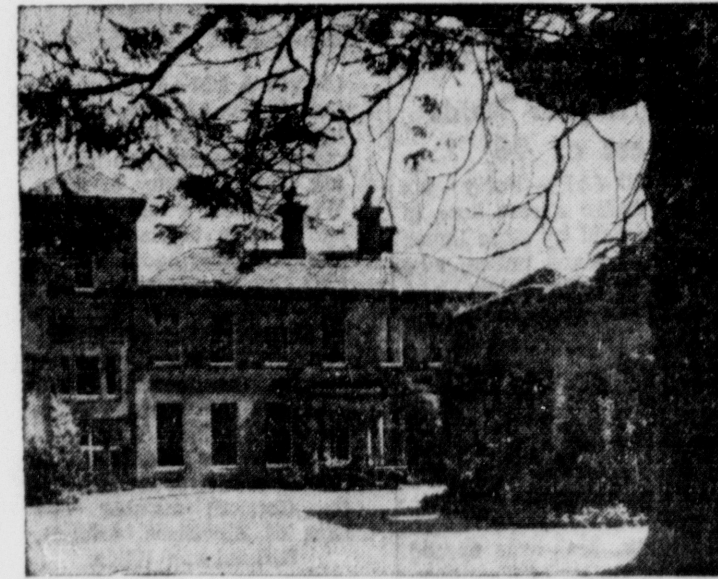

There's a very clear moral in this: so long as there is a public demand for swill—be it in films, books, newspapers, or television—somebody will always be on hand to provide it!

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Keeping his balance while in motion will be as much of a task for President-elect John F. Kennedy as anything facing him these next four years.

For him standing still would be equivalent to failure. He has to move. He promised it in the campaign.

In trying to get things done, Kennedy will encounter a thousand frustrations. The test of his balance will come in how well he avoids letting his judgment get twisted by exasperation and impatience.

He will learn the agonizing difference between 14 years in Congress and four in the White House.

In Congress his was not a position of leadership, even though he had both a state and national responsibility. Most of the programs he singled out for particular praise or blame.

In trying to persuade other members of the House or Senate to his way of thinking, he had the luxury of knowing that any failure on his part had to be shared by those on his side at the moment.

He will not have that luxury any more. His now is the primary responsibility for seeing that his promised programs get through Congress or are approved by allies and, sometimes, by enemies.

He will be open to criticism, just as were his immediate predecessors: Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower.

Roosevelt had almost subservient support from Congress in the crisis days of the early New Deal. He began to lose it as the sense of emergency got lost in the sense of recovery in the late 1930s. Truman had firm support in the closing days of the war but after that practically nothing but cat and dog fights with Congress. Eisenhower, working for most of his eight years with a Congress run by Democrats, got a lot of his programs through but endured a lot of disappointments.

Roosevelt, frustrated and exasperated by opposition in Congress, went to the extreme of trying to purge fellow Democrats and enlarge the Supreme Court.

The fiery Truman was truly exasperated—and showed it—by the roadblocks thrown up by Republicans, particularly the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. His pitched battles with them were famous and often unproductive.

Eisenhower, the opposite of Truman, remained calm, friendly and non-personal with Congress. But there were times when he probably could have accomplished more if he had fought harder.

With these examples before him, Kennedy knows the great trick in a successful presidency is in somehow creating a minimum of personal antagonism while fighting for and getting what he wants.

Can he do it? He has been unusually well-balanced so far. But his troubles haven't begun.

Fresh Water From Sea Is Now Possible

Home Extraction Unit Being Tested In Southwest Area

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Water is a pressing need in many fast-growing parts of this country and the world. And both industry and government are reporting breakthroughs in methods of extracting usable water from the two great remaining sources, sea water and brackish water.

A home unit for desalting water is being test marketed in the Southwest. Big-scale sea-water operations are in use or about to be installed in such widely separated points as the West Indies and Israel.

Costs have been the big stumbling block. The goal is to get them below 50 cents per thousand gallons, which would make conversion competitive with natural water in many areas. Research efforts in both government and private industry laboratories are reported showing great promise today.

The search for more water also goes on in the older fields of conserving rainfall and controlling runoffs in rivers. Congress is expected to be asked for more funds for such developments and also for preventing pollution of streams or for purifying them.

Industry's stake is high since industrial use of water is growing at a faster rate than is the domestic use by the world's booming population. Mining, plastics, chemicals and pharmaceutical industries are especially heavy users.

A home unit using thin membranes and electric current to dissolve and remove salts is being tested in Texas by the American Machine & Foundry Co. AMF has a big electrodesalination membrane unit in use in a plant of the Libyan Public Development and Stabilization Agency at Tobruk which converts 20,000 gallons of brackish water a day into drinking water.

Distillation is a traditional method but too expensive in the past for most areas. AMF now has a small heat evaporator unit supplying fresh water from sea water on pleasure and work boats and for use in homes.

Another method is to freeze the salts out. Bland-Knox suggests using butane as both refrigerator and melting agent, which it says should bring the cost way down. Struthers Wells and Scientific Design Corp. have teamed in a freezing process they say cuts costs sharply.

Fairbanks Whitney is building for the Israeli government desalting units aimed at purifying 250,000 gallons a day for that thirsty nation at a cost they say will be lower than any in previously built big units.

Several other American companies are in the water-purifying business, including Westinghouse Electric and Ionics.

Government agencies say average daily use of water for all purposes in the United States is 300 billion gallons, up from 200 billion 10 years ago. They expect it to go to around 500 billion a day by 1980. At present a dry year can bring water use restriction to as many as 1,000 U.S.

U.S. Retailers Pessimistic About Business during '61

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's storekeepers are looking down a rocky road in 1961. They don't expect much of a sales increase and they're even more worried about profits.

Five thousand members of the National Retail Merchants Association gathered in New York City this week to thrash over their problems.

Their president, Alfred Thompson, warned of "a tough year."

The NRMA surveyed 287 top store executives and found only 30 per cent looked for sales in the first half of this year to exceed the 1960 period. The median estimate was three per cent. Twenty-five per cent look for an increase in profits. Few would predict beyond the first half.

A year ago the merchants anticipated that 1960 sales would outstrip record 1959 by six to seven per cent.

Volume did set another record but retailers had to settle for a two per cent increase, and the profit squeeze tightened. The Commerce Department reported sales totaled $219.8 billion last year.

A gloomy picture of the furniture segment was painted in Chicago, where 20,000 dealers attended the winter home furnishings market. They expressed apprehension that sales this year will be below 1960, when the $4.6 billion total was more than seven per cent under 1959.

Retail volume this week chalked up a slight gain—one to three per cent—over the comparable week of 1959.

The unemployment headache grew more severe as the Labor Department reported the number of jobless increased by 500,000 to 4.54 million in December. This was the highest for the month since 1940.

The department predicted that the unemployment total will go up by one million in January to 5.5 million.

Because of a severe slump in freight loadings, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad announced plans to cut payroll costs 10 per cent. A number of other companies, including several suppliers to the auto industry, ordered cutbacks.

A University of Michigan survey found Americans are slightly worried about business conditions but most believe the current downturn will remain mild. Plans to buy new cars, clothing and major household goods are on the rise, the survey indicated.

Auto production picked up with an estimated output of 110,000 passengers cars this week. It was the highest total since mid-December and compares with 74,204 last week and 173,713 a year ago, when makers were catching up after the steel strike.

Sales in December were the poorest for the month in years, totaling 487,950. Output in January is scheduled at about 400,000, and plants are laying off workers.

Steel shipments are running ahead of December despite cutbacks in orders from auto manufacturers. Production this week was estimated at 1.4 million tons, up 2.8 per cent from the prior week.

Bethlehem Steel Corp. started operating two more open hearths at its Lackawanna works in Buffalo, N.Y. Twelve of 35 furnaces now are operating. Sharon Steel Corp. recalled 350 men at Sharon, Pa.

Old, Dusty Bell Is Suddenly Object of Great Interest

CLEVELAND (AP) — In the paint storage room under the tigers, leopards and gorillas at Cleveland Zoo, a big brass bell has been gathering dust for nearly 20 years.

Now, said Dr. Leonard J. Goss, zoo director, it is the object of more telephone inquiries than Mr. Fox gets on April Fool's Day.

The bell, 18 inches high and 24 inches in diameter, was installed in 1896 as a warning signal at the central viaduct. That was one year after a streetcar crashed through the open gates of the bridge with 17 lives.

When the viaduct was torn down in 1943, the bell was given by the city to the zoo for use in a proposed bird building to tell zoo visitors to start clearing out for closing time. But the zoo now has a carillon in the bird building and a loudspeaker system tells visitors closing hour is nigh.

So on Thursday, the zoo announced the bell was up for adoption.

"We were overwhelmed by the response," said Dr. Goss. "And that's an understatement."

One of the persons who called the zoo was Joseph Knapp, who said he used to cross the old viaduct in a horse and buggy and "whenever the guard wasn't looking, I rang the bell—it had such a beautiful tone." Knapp said he'd searched everywhere for the bell. Knapp wanted it for a children's camp, and so did William Stanton, a Painesville automobile dealer, whose grandfather was one of the 17 streetcar accident victims.

Here's a sampling of why other callers want the bell:

King Lutheran Church in North Olmsted—for a bell tower they will add to a new building, if they get it.

Lake Erie Junior Museum—for display.

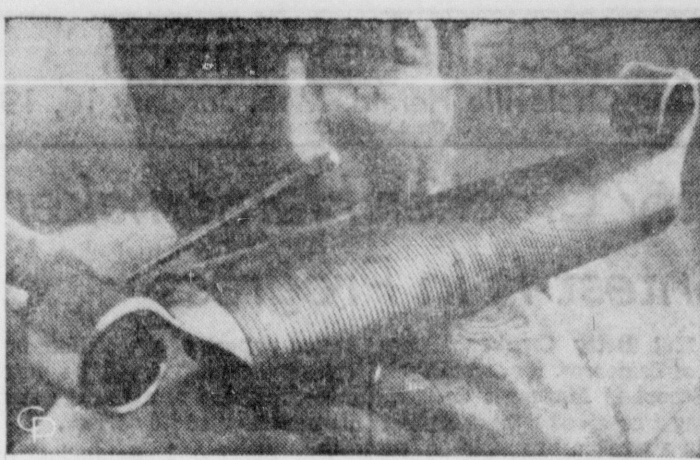

Village of Independence — Because the Liberty Bell is that community's symbol.

Lakeside Yacht Club—To signal boats.

Many private citizens wanted the bell, including a railroad fan and a pair of suburban mothers who felt it might be helpful in rounding up their eight kids from scattered play.

The requests were so numerous, so sincere, and so urgent, that Dr. Goss is a bit confused by it all and has decided he would wait "until the smoke cleared" before placing the bell, which one caller estimated was worth $1,000.

Perhaps the city might want it back, Dr. Goss speculated, and as the donor the city should have first call if some department comes up with a tardy bid.

IT'S A WIRI—This "what'sit" in Aruba, Netherlands West Indies, is a wiri, a ridged piece of metal that emits a melodic rhythm to spice up the music of an island band that greets the cruise ships.

Betty Crocker Homemaker Contest Is in Progress

The 1961 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Scioto Twp. High School is Margaret Collins. Having received the highest score in a written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating seniors in her school, she becomes a candidate for the state Homemaker of Tomorrow award which will be announced in March.

Each school Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive an award pin, representing the slogan, "Home is Where the Heart Is." The examination papers of school Homemakers of Tomorrow will be entered in competition to name the state's Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The $110,000 homemaking education program sponsored by General Mills offers a $1,500 scholarship to the first ranking girl in each state and $500 scholarship to the state's second ranking participant.

State Homemakers of Tomorrow and their faculty advisors receive an expense-paid educational tour to New York City, Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D. C., April 8-13, the trip culminating in the announcement of the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow whose scholarship is increased to $5,000. Second, third and fourth ranking Homemakers of Tomorrow in the nation will have their scholarship raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

The testing and judging is conducted by Science Research Associates of Chicago. With a record 402,786 girls in 12,633 of the nation's schools participating this year, the Betty Crocker Search has enrolled more than two million girls in its seven-year history.

She Knows How To Raise Presidents

FAVORITE SON . . . Mrs. Joseph (Rose) Kennedy had good words to say about son, Jack (left) when she was introduced at the Democratic Convention in California in the summer of 1960.

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

Mrs. Rose Kennedy agrees it is every American mother's privilege to dream that her son will grow up to be President.

But of President-elect John F. Kennedy, she says now:

"When you think of all the responsibilities . . ."

Mrs. Kennedy admits that, among her sons, her eldest seemed the most likely choice.

"Joseph Jr. was the one we thought would go into politics," she says. "Jack always thought he'd be a writer, or perhaps the head of a boys' school in the country. He thought companionship with students and books would be a fine life. It certainly would be a quieter one."

But Joseph Jr., a Navy Lieutenant and pilot, was killed when his plane blew up in World War II.

The attractive Mrs. Kennedy, mother of 9 children and grandmother of 18, has seen one son elected president, another, Robert, named attorney-general. A third, Ted, was a mainstay of the Kennedy presidential campaign and has just finished a fact-finding tour of Africa. All three definitely are in politics.

And Rose Kennedy herself hit the campaign trail last fall for her son.

"Of course I didn't discuss politics," she says. "I leave that for the expert."

At 70, she's trim-figured and looks years younger.

Daily four-mile walks have kept her agile. She still plays golf and ice skates when she has a chance and "for years they couldn't beat me in tennis." She draws the line at participating in the family's touch football.

Rose Kennedy has always been wrapped up in her children.

"People used to feel sorry for me because I was having so many children. I made up my mind I wouldn't give anyone the opportunity to feel sorry for me — or my children."

She loves babies — "When you look at your baby — what an awe-inspiring moment that is. You can form his character, his way of life."

"And when you have more advantages, it's more difficult. When you have a choice of schools, or trips abroad at a certain age, then you have to make many more decisions about what's best for him."

And she loves large families — "You might as well sit in a nursery with two children as one, and if you're taking two to see 'Hansel and Gretel', it's just as easy to take three. It's much more fun, and they're companions for each other, too."

"Of course, you can't have nine children without some crisis. That's why parents should inspire confidence. They should explain why they take a certain stand. Then when the children are older, they will come to you with their problems. Some boys of 17 or 18 can't talk to their parents. But my boys could talk to their father. He always said to them: 'Come clean, tell me all of it. If you don't I won't know how to help.' And they told him."

Rose Kennedy was the debutante daughter of John Fitzgerald, former U. S. Congressman and mayor of Boston, for whom the President was named. As a girl, she traveled widely with her father, who died a decade or so ago. Her mother is still living.

When she looks back on her childhood and marriage to Joseph P. Kennedy in 1914, she says:

"I've had such a thrilling life. And being a Catholic has been a tremendous help. A strong belief is the most wonderful thing that can happen to you. The fact that I've had one has given me a certain stability. But don't say I have fortitude. That makes me sound so sanctimonious."

"Life seems more involved than when I was a girl. Children have so much more freedom now. That's why children who have had religious training and had their characters formed when they're young are pretty level-headed when they're grown up and on their own."

She doesn't think being mother of the President is going to make much difference in her life.

She still works hard for charity. Right now this is taking the form of making speeches for women's clubs trying to raise money for their favorite charities. "I talk about life in England when I was there in the '30s with my husband, the ambassador. It's fun and I enjoy it."

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Pros & Cons of Mental Illness

DEAR ABBY: You did a great disservice to the young wife of the mentally sick husband when you advised her to stick with him.

Would you have us adopt ancient Hindu custom which compels the widow to throw herself on the burning bier of her husband and join him in death?

We are not Hindus, Abby. And a woman who will put up with a husband who has become a mental case is only making a martyr of herself.

NO MARTYR

DEAR ABBY: How dare you compare mental illness with cancer? Cancer affects only the person who has it. Mental illness can destroy an entire family.

I knew a lady psychiatrist who said most mental patients who resist treatment are just mean and selfish and use their "illness" to dodge responsibility. She also said she never saw a mental patient who couldn't get well if he wanted to.

You should have advised the wife to divorce her husband immediately. Just because HIS ship is sinking is no reason for her to go down with it.

ONE WHO KNOWS

DEAR ABBY: "Been Through It" disgusted me. In my opinion her attitude is the reason her husband stayed mentally ill for so long.

We were married only six years when my husband entered a mental hospital. It took faith in God, good State doctors, and plenty of love, but he hasn't had to go back. He wasn't easy to live with for a while, but I couldn't just leave him to suffer alone and make my own life with the children.

We've been married 10 years now. The battle is not completely won, but we're happier now than we've ever been. His illness has brought our family closer together. I'm glad I stuck.

"ALSO BEEN THROUGH IT"

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been in psychotherapy for a year. Sometimes he's fine, and other times he's a mean, foul-mouthed drunken animal. This is no atmosphere in which to raise children. His doctor tried to explain his case to me, but I can't buy it.

The cost of psychiatric treatment makes a polio or cancer patient's bills look like chicken feed.

I am giving him just one more year in which to get well. If he doesn't, then I am leaving. I am not cruel or selfish. I am only thinking about my children.

"GOING THROUGH IT"

DEAR ABBY: Please ask "BEEN THROUGH IT" if she recalls the vows she made on her wedding day.

"I take thee — for better or for worse, in sickness and in health . . . till death do us part."

She replied, "I will." But did she really mean it?

WIFE OF A MENTAL PATIENT

DEAR ABBY: Your statement, "Victims of mental illness are just as blameless and helpless as victims of cancer" show how little you know about it.

You remind me of that judge who ruled that my sister was sufficiently mentally competent to handle the inheritance our father left her. It took her exactly one year to go through $60,000. Then her family had to support her. She still runs up bills all over town, but the judge doesn't have to pay them. We do. I am beginning to wonder if maybe WE aren't the ones who are mentally unbalanced.

Mighty OSU, DePaul Alone As Undefeated

Collegiate Basketball Hits Lull as Athletes Take Semester Exams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There's a new Big O in college basketball these days — Ohio State's Buckeyes, who collectively are bent on dominating the game with ability, poise and consistency the way Oscar (Big O) Robertson did at Cincinnati the last three years.

Basketball hits the slack, mid-term exam period today with Ohio State's defending NCAA champions carrying a 12-0 season record, a nation-leading 17-game winning streak, a well-balanced attack led by All-American Jerry Lucas and clear cut ranking as the best team around.

Only Ohio State and unranked DePaul, now 11-0 with a 12-game winning streak, remain unbeaten among the major teams. Coach Ray Meyer's Demons, who passed a severe test by whipping previously unbeaten Louisville 78-70 Saturday, have a series of rugged road games coming up, starting Tuesday at Notre Dame. The Irish have a 22-game home court winning streak.

If Notre Dame can't manage it, DePaul has road dates against Indiana, Western Kentucky, Marquette, Providence and St. Bonaventure during the next month.

Ohio State, with Lucas' ailing knee apparently almost recovered, stays within a Big Ten conference schedule the rest of the way—resuming Saturday against Minnesota. The Buckeyes, who got 30 points from Lucas in a 79-45 rout of Northwestern last Saturday, seem to be free of upset trouble until the middle of next month, when they have back-to-back road games at Iowa Feb. 18 and Indiana Feb. 20. Indiana was the only Big Ten team to beat Ohio State last year.

Iowa, ranked sixth nationally last week, is coming on—having won nine straight for an 11-1 season record. The Hawks have joined Bradley (13-1), St. Bonaventure (13-1) and beaten only by Ohio State, North Carolina (10-2), Duke (13-1) Kansas State (11-2), Louisville (13-1), Southern California (11-2), and Mississippi State (10-3) in the first tier of challenges to the Big O of the Big Ten.

Except for Bradley, Southern Cal and Duke, who take a two-week break during the exam period, each has a chance to improve its credentials during the next week.

Third-ranked St. Bonaventure, which rode Tom Stith's 46 points to an 88-68 rout of Niagara last Saturday, plays Canisius at Buffalo next Saturday. Fourth-ranked Louisville is at Xavier of Ohio Wednesday and home to Dayton in the national TV game Saturday afternoon. St. Johns, 10-2 after losing to St. Joseph's (Pa.) last week, is idle. But Iowa has a pair of Big Ten games—at home against Illinois tonight and at Purdue on Saturday.

North Carolina, which has boosted its winning streak to eight since the probationary action of the NCAA last week, is at Maryland tonight and at North Carolina State Wednesday. Kansas State, No. 9, plays Kansas for the Big Eight lead Friday, after running its win string to ten, 69-57 over Oklahoma.

Mississippi State, which spilled previously unbeaten Vanderbilt 74-65 last Saturday, gets a chance to further establish itself as the Southeastern Conference favorite with a pair of home games—Georgia Tech tonight and Mississippi Saturday.

Other major pairings tonight include Michigan State, Northwestern at Minnesota, Wake Forest at Clemson, Vanderbilt at Mississippi, Toledo at Ohio U., The Citadel at Furman, Oklahoma State at Kansas, Oklahoma at Colorado, and Texas A&M at Texas.

Top crowd of the 1960 Yonkers N. Y., harness racing meet was 36,834 on May 28.

Walnut Cracks Century Mark

Tom Harber Explodes For 43-Point High

Walnut Township's cage force more than filled the scoreboard Saturday night in crushing visiting Centralia, 102-71.

It marked the first time this season a Pickaway County team has passed the century mark. Tom Harber, Walnut's fine center, was one of the reasons with his 43 points.

Harber's total is a new county high for the season. He hit 18 of 32 from the field, potted seven foul tosses and grabbed 19 rebounds in a sparkling performance.

Co-Captain Bill Hoover was another cog for the Tigers with his 28 points. He found the range for 11 of 22 shots and led the team with 21 rebounds.

DUANE Sheets was the third Walnut player in double figures, collecting 13 points. Clarence Gray aided the Tigers in rebounding with 13.

The Tigers ripped into Centralia with a 47.6 per cent average from the field. Their devastating attack was more than a match for the visitors' vaunted pressing defense.

Starring for Centralia was Monte Hinton with 28 points. Tom Haynes hit for 14.

Walnut, collecting 22 of 31 foul shots during the test, soared to a 25-18 lead in the first quarter and opened the pace to 54-36 at halftime. The gap continued in the third period as the hosts pushed the advantage to 77-50.

Tom Rathburn's 29 points showed the way for Ashville's 63-42 victory over visiting Cedarville Saturday night.

Ashville trailed, 10-9, after the first quarter, but soon found the range to take a 24-22 margin at intermission. The Broncos started to pull away in the second half, taking a 46-34 lead at the three-quarter mark.

Ashville fired 38 per cent from the field. Dick Hollenback hit 18 points to go along with Rathburn's 29. Rathburn also cleaned the boards for 20 rebounds.

OU, Toledo Set For League Joust

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toledo or Ohio University will drop at least temporarily from Mid-American Conference basketball leadership tonight as they clash at Athens.

The rugged loop is staging a two-team chase for the championship. All the others have lost at least two games while the rockets have a 5-0 record and the Bobcats 4-0.

They meet again Feb. 4 at Toledo, giving tonight's loser a chance to even things and possibly delay selection of the league's NCAA tournament representative.

Toledo picked up a pair of wins last week, 68-66 over Bowling Green and 60-55 over Marshall, while Ohio U. needed a last-second field goal by Bill Shaley for a 64-62 win over impotent Western Michigan. Toledo is 10-1 over-all, Ohio U. 9-3.

Ohio State, the country's No. 1 team, ran its winning streak to 17 (a dozen this year) by trouncing Northwestern 79-45 despite a slow-down maneuver by the Evanston crew Saturday night. Jerry Lucas scored 30 points, including eight straight free throws. The Bucks are odds-on choices to defeat Minnesota here Saturday, the Gophers having won only 2 of 11 tilts.

The Ohio basketball world turned upside down last week as the visiting teams tired of being belted by their hosts and staged a rebellion. Up to last Monday visiting teams had won only 64 games to the hosts' 176.

But the guests snatched 30 and lost only 24 during the week. Now hosts have won 200, visitors 94.

On the interstate front Buckeye clubs won 18 and lost 10 last week, giving them a 110-79 record for the campaign along with a 13,930 to 13,069 scoring advantage.

The point-getters, in addition to Lucas, had a merry time Saturday night. Jack Thobe of classy Xavier and Bill Engel of Western Reserve were tops with 33. Thobe's were good for an 87-75 win over St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, but Engel's were wasted as the Red Cats dropped a 71-61 verdict to Case Tech. The win moved Case into a tie with W. & J. for the lead in the Presidents' loop.

Wittenberg, 56-45 winner over Akron, took a commanding lead in the Ohio Conference race with a 6-0 record. Ohio Wesleyan, nicknamed 67-64 by Wooster, is second with 8-2, and Wooster third with 3-1.

WE GUARANTEE

If a Goodyear Tire with Captive-Air Steel-Cord Safety Shield ever goes flat from any cause we will...

- 1 Pay for your road service
- 2 Replace the shield at no cost
- 3 Give you full allowance for unused tread-wear if tire is damaged

Tires equipped with Captive-Air Steel-Cord Safety Shield—made only by Goodyear—will not go flat if punctured, torn or blown out. Captive-Air Safety Shields let you drive on for 100 miles or more—at reasonable speeds—regardless of tire damage.

Goodyear Safety Shields are nylon and steel cord "spares" inside your tires. If you have a puncture, or blowout, or other tire damage with these shields protecting you, simply drive on... on the air in the "inner spare"... as though nothing had happened.

Captive-Air Safety Shields fit either 3-T Nylon Double Eagles or 3-T Nylon Custom Super-Cushions—from Rambler and Lark sizes on up to sizes for Imperials, Lincolns and Cadillacs.

These tires can be equipped with new Captive-Air Steel-Cord Safety Shields at moderate extra cost.

ONLY THE AIR in the outer chamber escapes if the tire is cut, torn or blown out while driving. Reserve air in the inner spare immediately supports the car, lets you drive on 100 miles or more at reasonable speeds.

Unitas Pitches West to Win

Eastern Pro Gridders Are Edged by 35-31

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Baltimore's magnificent Johnny Unitas today was the conquering hero for the second straight year after passing and running the West to a 35-31 victory over the East in the 11th annual Pro Bowl.

A Memorial Coliseum crowd of 62,971, sweltering in summer-like weather Sunday, watched Unitas and Philadelphia's Norm Van Brocklin engaged in a savage quarterback duel in the traditional post-season game of National Football League All Stars.

Van Brocklin, who has announced his retirement, almost—but not quite — made his finale from a dozen years in the pro wars a glorious one. He passed for three touchdowns.

Unitas passed for only one score, but the lanky veteran directed four other touchdown marches.

Unitas was voted the player of the game for the second straight year.

Coach Vince Lombardi of the West and Buck Shaw of the East agreed: The difference in the finely-balanced squads was Unitas' running.

Unitas carried the ball five times for a 10.80 yard average. Each time the runs pulled the West out of a hole and one—a 25-yard sprint in the fourth quarter—set up a touchdown.

The Baltimore bombardier was deadly in the air. One toss to teammate Lenny Moore took the West 66 yards to the one yard line from where Green Bay's Jim Taylor crashed over for the six points.

The touchdown was one of three Taylor picked up for a new Pro Bowl scoring record. Los Angeles' Jon Arnett scampered 20 yards for another West score and Unitas passed 44 yards to Moore for another touchdown.

Palmer Leaps To Top of Pile Again

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The remarkable Arnold Palmer was back in his accustomed niche in golf today, meaning the top.

Fully recovered from the shock of an unbelievable experience in the rich Los Angeles open on a date he'll never forget—Jan. 6—Palmer headed for the Big Crosby tournament with the winner's paycheck in his pocket from the $20,000 San Diego Open Tournament.

Put aside momentarily at least was the recollection of the terrible 12 he took on one hole in Los Angeles and the score that didn't even qualify him for the final two rounds.

Palmer, the National Open and money-winning champion last year, agreed that the victory here Sunday took a lot of doing.

It took a 6-under-par 65 and a birdie 3 on the extra hole sudden death playoff to down plucky Al Balding of Canada. It took it amazing 40-foot putt for an eagle and several other great shots to win the $2,800 first money.

Balding collected $1,900, plus $100 more when the tournament chairman, Tom Lanpher, "accidentally" made the check out for $2,000.

Gary Player, of South Africa, finished with a 275 for $1,400 with a last round 68. Tied at 276 for $1,100 each were Dow Finsterwald, with a 70, and Frank Stranahan and Don January, each with 68.

On Job Education

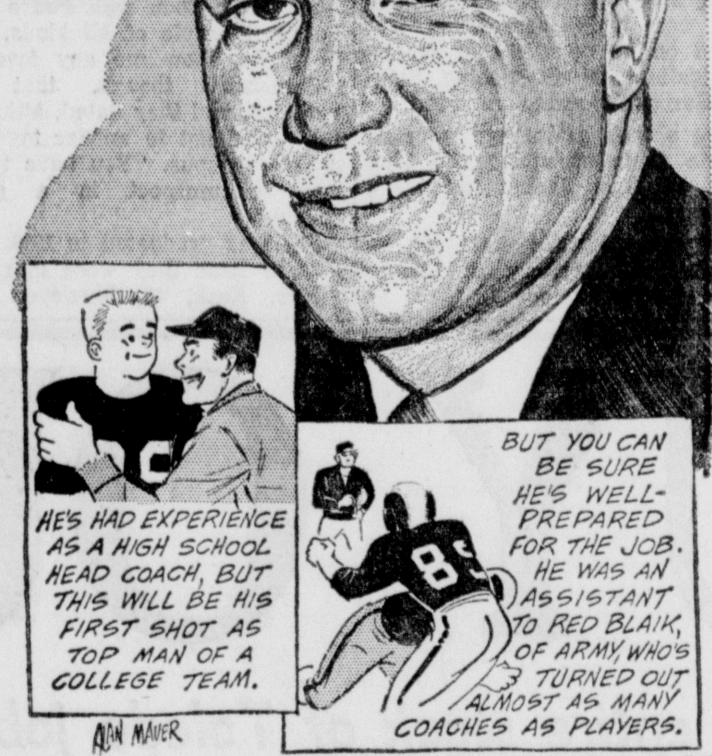

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Jack Dent is cooking up a college education.

Dent, who will graduate from Ohio University next year, is paying for his education by working as cook for Dr. John C. Baker, president of Ohio University. He's studying — logically enough — food technology.

Pender Seeks TV Bout with Gene Fullmer

BOSTON (AP) — Paul Pender went into seclusion after making (1) a successful defense of his version of the world middleweight title and (2) a national television challenge of Gene Fullmer, but his manager had some choice words to say.

"He'd cut Fullmer to pieces," said crusty old Johnny Buckley. "I'm positive Fullmer is afraid of him."

From the Fullmer camp in West Jordan, Utah, came a conflicting report.

Marv Jensen, Fullmer's manager, said his bruising slugger would be "more than happy to fight Pender any place he's not recognized as champion."

He is recognized in Massachusetts, New York and Europe. Fullmer owns the National Boxing Association version of the crown. He is scheduled to defend against Sugar Ray Robinson Feb. 25.

"I want the winner of the Fullmer-Robinson fight," Pender said just after disposing of game young Terry Downes in seven rounds Saturday night. "I want that one real bad, I want to clear up this mess about the title."

Fifteen stitches were required to repair the damage Pender wrought on Downes' face. The fight was stopped with the 24-year-old Londoner bleeding profusely from a long, deep gash over the bridge of the nose. That took 12 stitches, and 3 more closed up an eye cut.

Football Rule Chiefs Make Few Changes

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—College football, as far as the spectator is concerned, will look just the same in 1961 as it did in 1960.

The rule makers of the National Collegiate Athletic Association labored for three days, and at the conclusion of their annual meeting Sunday announced a minor alteration in the always controversial substitution rule.

That, and a toothless condemnation of sideline coaching, were virtually the sole products of prolonged discussion of a myriad of suggestions.

"The proposal for unlimited substitution was overwhelmingly defeated," said General Robert R. Neyland of Tennessee, committee chairman, adding that the group had no disposition to return to the two-platoon system.

The alteration in the "wild card" rule of the past season largely is for the benefit of coaches.

Last year a player could enter the game alone between downs as many times as desired without the entry being recorded against him. He was allowed only two recorded a period, however, meaning entering as part of a group.

"Under the rule as we have altered it the first player of a group coming on the field is considered a wild card, and the entry is not charged to him," Neyland said. "He must come on enough in advance of the others to make it obvious he is the wild card."

Trucker Is Sought In Assault Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police today hunted a burly truck driver they said tried to molest an 8-year-old girl, then savagely attacked a patrolman who sought to arrest him.

Police Capt. Elmer Reis identified the man as Howard Thompson, 43, of Florence, Ky., and said Thompson was placed on three years' probation last week on a charge of indecent exposure.

Patrolman Frank O'Toole said he spotted the man and girl Sunday night and chased the man into a backyard.

O'Toole said he had one handcuff on the man when he suddenly knocked the officer to the ground, snatched his gun and beat him on the face.

Former Pittsburgh Pirate Managers Bill McKechnie, Donie Bush, Pie Traynor, Fred Haney and Robby Bragan took in the World Series.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

A small but effective rain-producing low pressure system moving up the Appalachians was responsible for rain over most of Ohio Sunday and during Sunday night.

The rainfall was heavy at times over the southern counties, with amounts over the past 24 hours ranging from 1.8 inches at Chesapeake to a trace at Toledo.

Piketon and Cincinnati had one inch, Marietta .8 inch, Columbus .6 and Canton .1.

Northerly winds during the night spread colder air across the state and the precipitation became mixed with light snow over the central and southern counties early this morning.

Cloudy weather will prevail today, with periods of light rain, occasionally mixed with snow, gradually ending in the west today as the low pressure system moves across West Virginia into Pennsylvania. It will be colder tonight as skies become partly cloudy, then warmer temperatures are indicated Tuesday afternoon.

Wife of Secretary of State Prods Little into His Job

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor
SCARSDALE, N.Y. (AP)—Most wives are able to provide an impressive little list of invaluable boosts they've given their husband's careers.

How does Mrs. Dean Rusk help her husband?

"I don't," she says with a smile. "In fact, he teases me and calls me his official deflator."

But she does admit she's pretty reasonable about all the time he gives to a job. And when he becomes secretary of state next week he'll probably spend even more time at his work.

"We discuss things," she says, "but I find men don't want to bring their problems home if they don't have too much time to spend at home anyway. I purposely try not to prod too much into things I shouldn't know about. It's easy to let things slip out inadvertently. I prefer ignorance."

Virginia Rusk can talk without embarrassment about being ignored because everybody knows she's not.

At Mills College (Oakland, Calif.) on a scholarship in the 1930s, she won a Phi Beta Kappa key and one of the girls' school's

Cambridge Woman, 33, Is Found Dead in Auto

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—A 33-year-old Cambridge woman was found dead in an auto parked along a county road early Sunday and her male companion was jailed on an open charge for investigation and questioning, Sheriff Herbert Neeland reported.

The sheriff said there were no visible signs of violence on the body of Mrs. Jackie Leeper, a waitress.

He said Edward Hall, 43, of Cambridge, formerly of Columbus, was in custody.

most eligible young professors as a husband.

"I was a delegate to a student conference in Japan in 1934. That automatically made me an international relations expert on the campus. I was majoring in both history and geography. I had pre-registered for an international relations course with a professor I'd enjoyed working with before. Then I was disappointed to find he was on sabbatical and a young man named Dean Rusk was teaching the course.

"I became quite interested in him, but I soon was aware that he liked people of all kinds, and he didn't show me any favors."

Somehow, though, that all changed, and they dated, although they tried not to appear together on the campus. "You have to be very circumspect in a girl's school."

She was graduated in 1936, and a year later they were married. Mrs. Rusk, 45, blue-eyed and brown-haired, is amused when people call her a Bostonian.

"I was born there, but we left when I was a few months old," she says. "I was brought up in Seattle. I'd never returned to Boston, even when my two brothers were going to Harvard, until last spring. That's a terrible admission to make, but that's how much of a Bostonian I am."

She hasn't traveled abroad much, Mrs. Rusk admits. A main reason is that her husband's trips—first for the government and then as head of the Rockefeller Foundation—usually take only a few days, and he doesn't like for them to travel together on the same planes while the children are still young and nonsupporting.

David is now 20, studying economics at the University of California; Richard is 14, Peggy 11.
